State Commission on Judicial Conduct Selected Fiscal and Policy Issues - House

1. Travel Costs for Commission Meetings. Recommendations provide $78,462 in General Revenue to reimburse commissioners attending commission meetings, which includes an increase of $19,462 above 2018-19 spending levels. Commission meetings are held every even numbered month for a total of twelve meetings in the biennium. Commissioners serve without compensation but are entitled to reimbursement for necessary expenses related to travel, board, and lodging in the performance of official duties, which include constitutionally required meetings and hearings to identify and administer appropriate disciplinary action regarding alleged misconduct by elected judges.

The total cost of annual commission meetings during the 2018-19 biennium are estimated to be $68,731, exceeding the budgeted amount of $59,000 by $9,731. According to the agency, costs exceeding budgeted amounts have either been provided by the employing entities of certain commissioners or by commissioners electing not to be reimbursed due to lack of funding. Recommendations provide funding for an anticipated increase in travel costs and may result in all commissioners receiving a reimbursement.

2. Investigator Travel and External Proceedings. Recommendations do not include $72,538 in General Revenue funding for an agency anticipated increase in investigator and attorney travel ($22,538), external proceedings, and for hiring of external consultations ($50,000). In fiscal year 2018, the State Commission on Judicial Conduct (SCJC) conducted nine external proceedings, including seven Courts of Review and two Formal Proceedings. Typically the agency has one or two external proceedings in a biennium. The agency has no control over these proceedings and must follow procedure for every proceeding regardless of when they are filed. The SCJC anticipates that it could increase the percentage of cases disposed from 95 percent to 104 percent with additional funding (See also, ltems Not Included in Recommendations - House #1 and #2).

Overall, the agency has seen an increase in complaints, dispositions, and pending cases since fiscal year 2015 despite the downward trend in civil and criminal case filings statewide. The agency attributes this increase to the introduction of an online portal to the SCJC's website to file complaints, making it faster and easier for constituents to file complaints, and overall population growth statewide. The agency reports that current staffing levels are inadequate to support the increase in caseload (See Also, Items Not Included in Recommendations - House #2). The following chart of data provided by the agency shows the number of complaints, dispositions, and cases pending for the SCJC for fiscal years 2011-2019.
